

Happy New Year!

Written by
Thursday, 01 January 2004 16:00

Happy New Year everyone! We want to take this opportunity to wish all of you, a wonderful New Year and thank our friends and family for their support. Thanks everyone; we love you all!

The weather is still warm; though they are calling for cooler temperatures later in the week, still no snow, though. Today we cleaned the motorhome inside and out. After I finished washing the floor and dusting, I got the journal caught up. I have been taking pictures and have learned how to alter their size so I can download them to fit. Rick was up early finishing the polishing of the motorhome and then he washed and waxed the car. After he finished that he cleaned the windows inside and out. Considering he hadn't been able to clean the outside of the motorhome since September, I thought he showed remarkable restraint.

I now affectionately call him "Waxman". 🐼