

Trying Something Different

Written by Susan Hollingshead
Monday, 20 August 2007 02:28

Everyday I write about something and add a picture. It has been quite a while since I have posted any pictures of Makai and Monet so tonight I am trying something different by adding an assortment of pictures of both of them. After supper Karley gave them each a popsicle and they went outside (a much safer place to make a mess!) to burn off some energy. At one point Monet was pushing Makai around in his "smart car" and then they started to roll around in the hammock. After seeing some competitive, jealousy between the siblings in June when we first got here we are now witnessing them being friends and it is really cute to watch.

Trying Something Different

Written by Susan Hollingshead
Monday, 20 August 2007 02:28

Trying Something Different

Written by Susan Hollingshead
Monday, 20 August 2007 02:28

Trying Something Different

Written by Susan Hollingshead
Monday, 20 August 2007 02:28

Trying Something Different

Written by Susan Hollingshead
Monday, 20 August 2007 02:28

Trying Something Different

Written by Susan Hollingshead
Monday, 20 August 2007 02:28

